LE BARON 1865

A TRIBUTE TO ONE AND A HALF CENTURY OF MÉTIERS D'ART

To commemorate and celebrate its 150th anniversary, Lebeau-Courally presents a unique watch that pays tribute to its roots: Le Baron 1865. This remarkable automatic chronograph with black steel DLC case features a dial with 'Tapisserie de Liège' engraving. This classic engraving showcases the passion for arts and crafts, and the art of detail characteristic of Lebeau-Courally's exceptional hunting arms atelier in Liège.

AN ICONIC DESIGN ENGRAVED IN TIME

The art of engraving is embedded in the DNA of the Belgian city of Liège. The origin of the 'Tapisserie de Liège' goes back to 19th-century England where 'anglais' or small and complex curls and rings were engraved in hunting arms. Belgian artists such as Hyppolite Corombelle adopted the style, made it their own and further perfected the craft. The typical 'Tapisserie de Liège' is still characterised by 'anglais' in a complex composition with acanthus leaves, roses, ribbons and small natural ornaments inspired by the famous Louis XVI style. Sometimes, carved elements are added, such as oak leaves, or laurel leaves. Lebeau-Courally's craftsmen still apply the engraving by hand with hammer and fine burin onto forged steel to achieve a vivid and detailed relief. The 'Tapisserie de Liège' design in silver featuring on Le Baron 1865 stands out against a black background and adds an extra dimension to the watch face.

THE ART OF JEWELSETTING

In the great tradition of bringing Métiers d'Art or Master Crafts together, Lebeau-Courally presents a rare collection of time pieces created by extraordinary craftsmanship. Le Marquis "Haute Joaillerie" is born from the minds and hands of the best craftsmen in the world. These exceptional watches meet the same strict requirements, as the ones made to exclusive masterpieces of jewellery. The result is one of splendour and timeless aesthetics. The Lebeau-Courally designers and artisans have brought the techniques of rail setting and pave setting together to present these exclusive creations with their full jewelsetting. The combination gives a smooth, harmonious effect to the watch. If these exceptional timepieces are as fascinating as they are scintillating, it is because they crystallize the most accomplished craftsmanship of "Haute Joaillerie". The House of Lebeau-Courally holds its mission dear to reflect the nobility and high added value in its creations, combining the excellence of craftsmanship with a highly technical content. This is exemplified by Le Marquis Haute Joaillerie in a demonstration that is as elegant as it is spectacular.

DEFY THE LIMITS OF TIME

What makes life great, and infinite, is detail. Detail is the breath in every story. Detail is the brush stroke that makes the drawing come to life. Detail magnifies the character of things that are dear to us, like the character of L'Archiduc. This chronograph is housed in an elegant 43-mm gold case. It has two small dials at 9 and 6 o'clock to indicate minutes and hour, completed by a small seconds dial at 3 o'clock. The date window is set at 6 o'clock on the watch face with Roman numerals. L'Archiduc is available with a casing in 18-carat red or white gold – and if desired with elegantly diamond-set bezel. For those who are truly passionate about detail, an open dial version has been created.
